MONDAY, JULY 28. 1740.

1591.

Madrid, July 12. N. S.

THE Court has order'd that 15 Regiments be sent to Galicia and Biscay, to reinforce the Troops that are in those two Provinces, and to protect the Coast from Surprise. The Orders issued at the same Time for augmenting the Forces that are encamp'd near Gibraltar, give Reason to think that the Siege of that Place is a Point resolv'd rather because some Foreign Engineers are of opinion, who we are assur'd are to be employ'd in the Siege, that the Publick seems to be uneasy as to Cadiz, where the necessary Preparations are making for a good Defence, in case that Admiral Norfleet attack either of those Harbours. The late Lord of Ormond who is entirely recover'd continues together with Lord Marshal; and there's no Talk of the Expedition in which those two Nobles were to be employ'd.

St. Petersburg, July 12. On the 8th Instant early in the Morning M. Wolinski receiv'd his Sentence, by which he was degraded from his Office of Minister of War and his other Employments, and condemn'd to his Tongue cut out, his Right Hand cut off, and to be broke alive upon the Wheel, and his Left Hand cut off and stuck upon a Pole. His Despair at receiving this Sentence pass'd upon him was such that he could be greater; but he was soon after told, that the Empress, such was her Clemency, had committ'd his Punishment to the cutting off his Hand and Head, which was accordingly done on the Bank of the Neva behind the Citadel. The Sieurs Teropoff and Krousfakof, who were concern'd with him, were also beheaded. The Crime specify'd in M. Wolinski's Sentence is, That he has deserved Death for having forfeited his Allegiance to the Empress, for endeavouring to raise a Rebellion in the Empire, for having sought the Ruin of the Ministry, and having diverted several considerable Sums of Money to his own Profit, and particularly 700000 Rubles were appropriated for the Czarina's Stud of Horses and Stables, of which he had the Direction as Master of the Horse. The Count Muffin-Puschkin, President of the Council of Commerce, who was also concern'd for Prevarication, will be try'd next Week, together with his Accomplices. 'Tis believ'd he will lose his Life given him, but that the immense Wealth which he has acquir'd will be forfeited. There being several Persons both at Casan and Astracan who are charg'd with having entered into the Views of M. Wolinski, Orders are sent to arrest and bring them to St. Petersburg.

It is the Custom in Russia to forfeit all the Estates of those who suffer Death for Capital Offences, and the Czarina has order'd that M. Wolinski's Heirs shall keep his Paternal Estate, but forfeit that he has got by the Crown. Her Imperial Majesty has also order'd Provision to be made for the maintenance of the Children left by the Sieurs Teropoff and Krousfakof. A great Assembly is held every Day at Petershoff, to settle all the Sentences of other Persons that are found guilty. 'Twas observ'd that the Empress shed Tears when she sign'd the Sentence of M. Wolinski and his Accomplices, that she order'd the Commissioners appointed for Trials to tell her how far she might exercise her Mercy: But both they and the Synod gave it as their Opinion, that by the Laws of God and Man they could not escape Death, but that her Imperial Majesty might make it as mild as she pleas'd. Vice Admiral Bredahl, who commanded the Russian Squadron in the Black Sea in the last War, being recall'd to be employ'd on board the Fleet, has been at Petershoff to pay his Respects to the Czarina. All the Officers are brought hither that were found upon the Count Dunnewald, who was arrested by the Court of Vienna, where he is so closely confin'd that his body is admitted to him but his Wife.

Vienna, July 23. M. Munkow, the Prussian Minister, who came hither lately to notify the Accession of the King of Prussia to the Throne, is recall'd, and already taken Leave of their Imperial Majesties, and only waits for his Audiences of the rest of the Imperial Family. Notwithstanding the Great Duke's

Return, there is nothing declar'd yet about the Army. The Quarantine is enjoin'd again, and a Guard plac'd at Raab with the same Strictness as formerly, the Plague having broke out at Segedin and Arrath, by the Negligence, as is said, of the Commander at Semlin, in dismissing too soon the Workmen employ'd in the Demolition of Belgrade.

Koningsberg, July 20. N. S. This Day the King of Prussia receiv'd the Homage of the States of his Kingdom, when the Receiver-general being on Horseback scatter'd a great Number of Gold and Silver Medals among the Populace; the States din'd at 12 Tables for 26 Guests each, and the Generals, Ministers of State, and most distinguish'd of the Nobility, had the Honour to dine with the King, at a Table spread for 40 Guests.

Hanover, July 31. N. S. On Friday last in the Evening, his Highness Prince William of Idelfe, who came hither last Tuesday was Se'nnight to pay his Respects to the King, took Leave of his Majesty at Herenhausen, and set out early Yesterday Morning from hence for Cassel, extremely well pleas'd with the Honours and Respect shewn him during his Highness's Stay here. M. Von Assebourg, Privy Counsellor in the King of Sweden's Service, and his late Minister at Paris, arrived here on Tuesday Night last, in his Return to Stockholm.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman on board the Victory, dated the 24th Instant.

'It is impossible to conceive the Surprise we were all in upon our late Disaster (of which I find you had some imperfect Accounts) except by those who had like to have been Sufferers by it. It was in the Dead of Night when this Accident happen'd; who were to blame will be the Subject of a further Inquiry; two Lieutenants belonging to the Lion, and one Lieutenant belonging to the Victory, who were upon the Watch at that time, are to take their Trial for it, they being all three suspended and confin'd.

'It was owing under Providence to Sir John Norris, whose Experience and Prefence of Mind render him equal to the greatest Difficulties how sudden and unexpected soever, and who upon this Occasion (as we Sailors call it) was an Angel of a Man, or the Victory would have gone to the Bottom, and every Soul on board might have perish'd; the Victory having receiv'd such Damage in her Head, that the Sea poured in upon us in a Manner which must have sunk us in half an Hour, had not the Confusion the Men were in by being all turn'd out of a sudden and not knowing what was the Matter, been restor'd to Order by the extraordinary Prefence of Mind with which the Admiral gave his Directions for stopping the Inundation.

'His Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland appear'd very compos'd, and discover'd an uncommon Intrepidity, tho' sensible of the Danger; upon which Sir John Norris made a very handsome Compliment to his Royal Highness.

'The saddest Affair is still behind: We suffer'd by the Lion, but the Lion was the greatest Sufferer. Eight and twenty Souls by the Shock of the Two Ships meeting were thrown into the Sea from on Board the Lion, every one of whom perish'd.'
